EDITO

Dear We You They Readers,

Hopes, warm dreams, good wishes... We are heading towards a brand new year when the winds of fall will give its place to the rain and white snow. I hope the new year will embrace us with all the beauty in this season when the stars look shinier.

In this issue coinciding with the 81th remembrance day of the Great Leader Mustafa Kemal Atatürk who is the classiest and charismatic leader of the century, we reflected the Great Leader's fashion sense which was beyond its time to our Storefront page and shared the unknown about his style with you. We remember Atatürk who was also pioneer in fashion as in every issue with respect and longing. Kayseri, the city of civilizations where the mansion used by Atatürk during his visit is located, draws attention both with its cultural and historical structure. The city established over the foots of Erciyes mountain is a must for ski fans due to its winter tourism. You can plan your winter holiday easily by looking our Travel page.

The year of 2019 was on the agenda of us all with its economic processes. We evaluated how this year was with Dilek Bayram who is Özdilek Holding's Assistant General Manager of Financial Affairs. We did a delighting interview which is full of important anecdotes regarding her successful education and career life, the financial operation of Özdilek Holding, her hobbies, social life and dreams.

We covered our decoration pages with a warm white to create a fascinating atmosphere other than usual in our home, to make your spaces warmer while we are opening our doors to the beauties of the new year. We also compiled classy and elegant decoration products in our Storefront Decoration page for you.

Do not decide on your style of new year's eve without looking at our Storefront page. We also gathered the pieces that will reflect your glow in the new year's eve and each is more special than the other with pieces of glitter, metallic gray, stylish and the nobleness of the indispensable black which take us under their effect with the start of winter season.

We met with Rafet El Roman which is one of the romantic voices of Turkish pop music when there is very little time before bidding farewell to the old year. Do you wonder the unknown things about the successful singer whose love songs we listen fondly? Then, I am leaving you alone with the intimate interview of Rafet El Roman regarding his dreams and projects in the new year and the last issue of 2019.

Wishing you to have peaceful and happy times...

44th Meeting for Reviewing Management's Quality Processes

The Reviewing Management's Quality Processes Meeting was organized for the 44th time by the Özdilek Holding Quality Management Department at Hilton Hotel.

Senior executives, operations managers, support and administrative department managers participated in the meeting.

In the meeting, convened to evaluate the first 6 months period of 2019, quality processes, food safety, energy, and customer satisfaction were discussed, and process performance data were examined in detail. Workplace safety data and analyses were reviewed, and measures to take for minimizing risks were determined.

Mexico Captured the Heart of İzmir

Wyndham Grand İzmir Özdilek bid farewell to the fine weather of İzmir with a party it threw at the poolside.

The guests of this special night had a pleasant and warm İzmir evening with the songs played by the live band while having a taste of delicious Mexican food served in the banquet service.

Funda Çam, the General Manager of Wyndham Grand İzmir Özdilek expressed that they had the pleasure of realizing this beautiful organization, in which the guests had their fill of music and excitement at the poolside, adding, "With the Mexican Night, our poolside organizations end for this season, but we will continue to organize different thematic activities during winter."

ProSPIN at the International Textile Machinery Fair

Özdilek participated in the International Textile Machinery Fair with its ProSPIN technology, which has an international patent and which has started a new era in ring spinning with the meticulous work of the R&D team specialized in thread production.

Kahramanmaraş Textile Machinery Fair (KTM), organized in KAFUM brought the most important textile technology manufacturers of Turkey and the world together for the fifth time in Kahramanmaraş, the capital of textile.

National and international technology manufacturers from thread, knitting, fabric, technical textile, paint – print, textile finishing, and machine accessory and spare parts industries had the opportunity to exhibit their innovations in KTM 2019.

Özdilek the Fashion of your Home

Özdilek Home Textile performed the catalogue shootings of the products in the new season collection in the lush atmosphere of Mount Ida. Jessica May, the face of Özdilek Home Textile, participated in the one-week long shootings that took place in the Çetmihan Hotel in Yeşilyurt Village of Çanakkale.

The new fall – winter collection by Özdilek Home Textile is the trendsetter, again this season, in the home fashion with color and pattern alternatives adaptable to all kinds of living spaces. In addition to the blankets, designed for you to make a fabulous start for the day with poetic details reviving the geometric shapes, the natural impact of earth tones used in the products on living spaces becomes prominent. The collection, containing romantic flowers fluttering around, reflects the soothing effect of soft tones in the living spaces. The design and lines of the products in the fall – winter collection almost surround living spaces with their rising energy.

New Season Shooting from Özdilek to Inspire Your Style

The 2019 Fall – 2020 Winter textile collection catalogue shootings for the Özdilek stores were performed. The textile shootings, which lasted a week, was done in three different concepts and at three different locations. The shootings included products of world renowned brands in addition to Finesuits and Shefame, classical garment brands by Özdilek; Funfair, the children's clothing brand, and First Company, the casual clothing brand. Some of the shootings of the products in the catalogue were performed in the stunning scenery of Cappadocia between 15 -18 September. Photos of knitwear, suits, denim shirts, trousers, and jackets accompanied by warm colors such as brown, camel, maroon and mustard, looked just like postcards in the unmatched scenery.

In Özdilek Holding Duma Agency Photograph Studio designed to reflect the team of fall - winter, the classic clothing shootings which feature tartan and leopard patterns, fringe, embroidery and fur details were performed. Shefame brand offers many alternatives for the ones preferring an elegant vintage look with tartan and leopard details which are on the rise this year as in the last year. Finesuits suits designed with the trending colors, fabric and cuts of the 2019 - 2020 season promise a noble and charismatic look.

For the colorful new season products of children's clothing the Yenişehir Nature Agriculture Farm by Özdilek was preferred. The children carried out shots as entertaining as the products in the catalogue, with ponies and bicycles in the farm that contain paths and orchards. In the products of new season, Funfair offers a wide product range from sweaters knitted with healthy yarns to t-shirts, from trousers cut conforming to the actions of children to pajamas weaved with breathable fabric, from coats to comfortable sportive jackets, from colorful dresses to stylish blouses.

The Özdilek 2019 Fall – 2020 Winter catalogue and the new season products took their places at the Özdilek Shopping Centers, department stores and on Özdilektheyim.com.

Dr. Dilek Bayram:

“Özdilek is my second university.”

In our new issue, we did a delighting interview which is full of important anecdotes with Dilek Bayram who is the Özdilek Holding's Assistant General Manager of Financial Affairs regarding her successful education and career life, the financial operation of Özdilek Holding which holds different organizations, her hobbies, social life and dreams.

Interview Ece Şentürk Photo Onur Yurtseven

Firstly, would you like to inform dear We You They reader about your educational status and sectoral background?

Of course. I graduated from Uludağ University Faculty of Economics and Administrative Sciences Department of Business. I also completed my master's and doctorate degree in the same university. My initial goal was having an academic career at the end of my bachelor's degree. The fact that I graduated from the school as the top scoring student both in the department and faculty must have affected this. As soon as I finished my bachelor's degree, I entered the exam and could not pass the English exam. In the exam there was a text called "The Psychology of the Chair", no one was able to pass it since it was a very interesting and abstract subject. I could not enter the academic staff but started my master's degree with this exam. I started my master's degree in September, then searching for an internship in October. I came to Özdilek somehow and this was my first contact with Özdilek. I continued my master's degree classes and also my accounting internship in Özdilek for about 6 months. There was a staff of 7-8 people working in that period, I learned most of the things from them. I think I enjoyed the job a little back then but I had my academic career objective as well. In the next year, I entered the exam once again and I passed the tests this time; however, I failed the interview. We were two friends, my friend was older than me and is still in the university now... She achieved her goal because her main goal was academic career when entering the department. I gave up, put an end to it and started my job hunting. While I was applying to companies, Mr. Orhan who was Özdilek's Accounting Assistant Manager during my internship became the personnel manager and told me that there was a vacancy in the accounting department. On a Thursday, I came to Özdilek and we interviewed with Mr. Yalçın. Mr. Yalçın told me, "Start now, don't go". I asked him if I need to bring any documents, he said, "You can do it later." (She laughs). So I started my duty as accounting personnel on 19 May 1992. We formed a department concerning cost in 1993 and I became the cost chief. In 1996, the company started growing and Mr. Yalçın was working alone in that period. There was no position for Assistant Manager and I started working as assistant manager since there was an opening with the growth of the company. I completed my doctorate thanks to the opportunity given to me by Özdilek in those years. I both studied and worked. I managed this with the support of Mr. Yalçın, my advisor and my family. In the following years, I also completed my public accounting internship and received my certificate. I retired two years ago but I am still working gladly. I always learned and am still learning, that was what made my job pleasant. I consider this place as a second school. Özdilek is my second university.

You are completely in charge of financial operations of the institution. What are the most challenging and delighting parts of such a comprehensive duty?

It is quite a different job and dealing with activities makes us dynamic, requires us to keep our information updated and enables us to learn new stuff every day. We can say that all the departments have a connection with accounting. Therefore, you need to stay in touch with all the departments. These are the factors making our job pleasing. I cannot say that our job has a quite challenging part but financial works are always time-limited. You need to inform something to someone all the time or you need submit a report, this can be an element of pressure. Working with other departments can also make it harder to administer this duration but this also is not a part of our job that is too difficult. These would not be a problem with a good organization and communication.

Is it advantageous that you have a long-term job experience in the company?

I believe it is quite advantageous. I read somewhere that the companies have organizational memory. The more there are the long-termed employees, the stronger the organizational memory gets. Therefore, I always take the advantage of my long-term experience here when I need to remember something and make connections. Apart from any other thing, acquiring experience is an advantage of itself which, I believe, cannot be compared to anything else.

You audit all the regulations and keep the company's financial communication updated while being in the front line of development. Can you tell us how you can manage this?

First of all, this success arises from quality of our team. It is due to the well communication of the team, following up the rules and instructions strictly. Team members are selected with a quite serious and meticulous pre-selection in Özdelek culture. We train our own managers within ourselves. This enables us to create a team which was established within our own culture. As a result, we achieve the advantage of being well-coordinated and understanding each other very well. We are like a family with our team but by keeping the working discipline and respect framework, this is quite important. On the other hand, the legislation is a big part of our job. We have a budget culture which continues since the 1998s. We are reporting these results while recording on the other side. We present accurate and reliable data with reports for our friends in operation and in the top management to plan their works. We achieve success by conducting all of these accurately and completely.

Were there any breaking points in your career which affected you?

There are always moments like this during the business life, good or bad. The important thing is to evaluate these moments and not to dwell on them. I did not run through the steps of career. I was an intern, became a personnel, chief, assistant manager, manager, assistant general manager but all happened slowly with patience. All of them are milestones in my career.

We wonder the motivation source making you successful...

Nobody loves accounting from the outside. I always loved my job. I did my work gladly. I am business school graduate; I could have worked in many other fields. During my doctorate, one of my academicians asked me "why accounting". Firstly, I love dealing with numbers. Secondly, there is no other department in the business which is not related to accounting and this is very nice. This job requires meticulousness and does not accept even a tiny mistake. However, we are a big organization with many control points. We should be afraid of repeating not making mistakes.

What about your social life? What are the activities which make you happy the most?

The things that gives me the most joy are spending time with my family, the ones I love and my friends. I travel when I find a chance, I use every little opportunity. There are very few places where I have not been to in Turkey. I love reading books. I do not have a lunch habit, so it rests me a lot to read a few pages during those breaks. I was interested in paper marbling once. I have various pastimes such as gobelin, wood painting, rock painting, wood print, making felt babies. It is both elating and relaxing to deal with different things.

Can you tell us about the most distinct features of your identity?

I am a Virgo; I have its all typical characteristics. I am perfectionist, meticulous, detailer. All of them matches with my work but sometimes, I can be unbearable among my colleagues, I do not know, we should ask this to them (She laughs).

Which are the first things in your to-do-list?

Nowadays, I travel when I find a chance, I have been to many countries but my biggest goal is to travel the world when my active working life is over. My second wish is to spare time for paper marbling, to take lessons from and work with the marbling artists which I follow. And the third one is about health, if possible, I would like to be a volunteer in a non-governmental organization concerning children and cancer.

We are at the end of year when is the most important and busiest period for you who deal with financial operations. Can you talk about what kind of year we left behind if we were to evaluate 2019 financially?

In fact, we do not get busy at the of the year anymore on the contrary to what is known. We work as if we are closing a period at the end of every three months due to the legislation change; and as if we are closing the year at the end of every month due to the way of business management in our company culture. Therefore, the end of year does not represent the nightmares of former accountants or year-end pace of working in the late hours for us. If we were to evaluate 2019 in general, we can say that it a rough period started in the economy with the exchange rates which increased in the second half of 2018. This period gave the signals that it would continue in 2019 as well. The exchange rate which increased suddenly in 2018 shook the country's economy. The foreign currency was stabilized with the precautions taken but the trust against the markets decreased, the investment decreased and unemployment became a very serious issue, unfortunately. Purchasing power decreased and this affected many sectors. There was a demand shrinking in the domestic market, we are also included in this but especially, our retail trade is one of the sectors which got affected least. From the country's point of view, the companies having the chance of exportation are luck somewhat, they try to find a way out with exportation. The interest rates decreased with the interventions in July and September 2019. The decrease in the inflation rates announced in the last period signals positively. The most important thing is the establishment of trust mechanism, this requires time, we need to be patient. There are still markets for exportation...

What are your foresights and expectations for 2020 after this period?

The economy of Turkey gained an endurance during the previous crises. I believe that the private sector tries to endure as far as possible since they go through a serious test during crises. There are certainly many companies getting affected and having trouble. From our point of view, we need to perform our job and duties well. We are going to do what we can in the best way. As I said earlier, I believe there are new foreign markets for exportation. Because the companies attempt to find new markets when they face difficulty. If the improvement signals in the inflation, interest and exchange rates continue, the companies do what they should, take the applicable austerity measures along with patience, many things can get better.

Would you like to share your wishes regarding the next year as we get closer to the last month of this year?

Firstly, I wish health because health and peace is quite important. Nothing else is important without health and peace. I hope 2020 will be a peaceful year both for our country and the world. I also wish 2020 to be prosperous and productive year in terms of economy...

Just for you at Özdilek Park

RAFET EL ROMAN

"I support every kind of good music."

In our new issue, we met Rafet El Roman, the legendary name of romantic love songs, in the warm atmosphere of Nişantaşı. We wish a pleasant reading of our intimate interview regarding the famous artist's unknown aspects, interest on sports, surprise projects, expectations from the new year and unforgettable memories in his art life.

Interview Ece Şentürk

Where to start? Can you talk about the unknown of Rafet El Roman a little bit?

In fact, there are very few unknown things about famous people, our fans usually know many things about us in general. I was born in 1968 in Edirne. After the age of 7, I went to my family who was working in Germany and completed my education there. I would like to share few things which you do not know about me. For example, my main profession is ventilation and heating system installation. Furthermore, I opened an ice-cream shop transferred by an Italian friend of mine after I completed vocational school. I invested all my profit there into music, prepared my own album and came to Turkey.

This summer, you gave an unforgettable night to your listeners in your Harbiye Open Air concert which was very crowded. What kind of bond do you have with your fans?

I prepare a repertoire which my audience would like to listen in my concerts. A different repertoire for my concert which I will perform soon in Moscow, different ones for concerts in Germany and also different for Turkey... Of course, fundamental songs such as Seni Seviyorum, Bana Sen Lazımsın, Yalancı Şahidim, Senden Sonra are fixed. I sing them in every concert. I care about the dialog and intimacy which are established with the audience. I am not a man who just sits and sings. I love establishing a dialog, making small talks and jokes with my audience during my concerts. Sometimes, I dance. Sometimes, there are surprises which people would not expect on my stage. In fact, none of them are prepared, everything develops impromptu. That's why; I can both have fun and entertain the audience on stage. The income from my Harbiye Open Air concert was donated to the construction of a modern rest home. We gave support for this with many artists, we are sure that it is going to be a nice project.

Which one of your songs do you think come to mind of your audience when they hear your name?

I think the first song come to mind is Seni Seviyorum but there may be some who would say Macera Dolu Amerika. My latest songs and duets are loved a lot. However, I still think that Seni Seviyorum is the first song come to mind because people consider me as the representative of love songs. Emotions are vital for music but this situation started to lose its sense slowly. It is like that music is slowly abstracted from emotion... Maybe, this is just a phase.

In the 90s, your name was mentioned a lot. In those days, music channels, tapes, CDs were very common... Nowadays, we are in an era when digital media are effective. How do you assess this change in the music industry in terms of artists?

I believe this evolution of music affects producers more. The release and distribution of the production is a longer and busier process. This whole process was transferred to digital platforms. Adjusting to this required some time. It was not a huge lost economically. Instead of making an album every two year like we used to, we can acquire the same potential by making one proper song within a shorter period. The listeners do not wait for the tape to be distributed from Unkapanı to reach a music shop in Mardin any longer.

You shared your new song “Seveni Suçlama” only in digital platforms. Can you talk about that song?

Seveni Suçlama is warm, intimate, the song just for this season. It is a nice break-up song. We cannot force anyone to love. We should also understand the one who leaves. Therefore, this song is like blaming both the one who leaves and the one who loves... I shared this song of mine only in digital platforms but I will definitely add this song into my album, if I make one.

Lately, rap music is on the rise. Would you consider making a rap song?

Rap music was not welcomed like this a few years before but I was supporting it. I started Müzik Benim Hayatım (Music is My Life) project and I made an album for our rap artist Şanışer who is very famous now when he was not discovered yet. It was a nice work which I undertook its production in my own studio. I support every kind of good music. However, I am against one thing. Some musicians in the new generation reflect our Turkish culture very well and use Turkish very well. And the other part of them do it like Americans. Rap should not be performed like this because rap music should represent freedom, it should be authentic. If we are doing it, let's make “Turkish” rap, we should not do it with the same dances and attitudes with Americans. I was condemned when I made my song Macera Dolu Amerika. I was a Turkish person, Rafet El Roman, even in the USA, I have never become American. I narrated a story in that song, that was my story. I narrated my village and the difference between.

We know that you are also a songwriter along with being a musician. Are we going to listen your songs from other musicians in the new period?

Many musicians have sung my songs in their albums. In fact, I have given songs to Sibel Can and Miss Ajda in my entire career. I usually write my songs to sing them myself. As a songwriter, I do not make songs for other people but there are some exceptions... I like doing favors for my esteemed artist friends which I cannot reject.

You had the chance to play a role in the last movie of late actor Kemal Sunal, Propaganda, with himself. Do you have a memory which you cannot forget from the shooting?

I have many memories... We stayed in Ürgüp for 40 days, I even remember the name of the hotel we stayed. We were usually in the set during the day. We would return to hotel very tired but we also did not deprive ourselves of spending time together. There were lovely dinners we ate altogether, we played okey together, Kemal Sunal would always sit with us. If you are going to take an artist as an example, it is a great opportunity to do it by observing Kemal Sunal.

“I support everyone who believes in their talent, they can just knock upon my door.”

Many people visited the movie set just because of Kemal Sunal, and believe me, he would never hurt anybody, got out of his caravan and took pictures with each and every one of them. We used to be tired because of all that busy pace but he would not. He even used to warn us and say “Do not hurt these people,” this advice is inherited to me from him. Some people leave this earth without any bad memories, and Kemal Sunal was that kind of person. Metin Akpınar, as well. I learned chess in that movie set from Metin Akpınar and I became a very good chess player today. I can checkmate everyone (He laughs).

We remember your style with your hat and glasses in a period. Do you care about how you dress?

You are right, I used to never get outside without my hat but I do not have such an obsession now (He laughs). I always had a dressing style of my own. I do not care about brands. I usually prefer green and black. You cannot see me in yellow or red. This is my own style, I feel comfortable like this and have been so for a long time. Of course, I care about what I wear but I do not follow the fashion closely. I cannot tell what is fashionable this year, what the season requires or that I conform to these. The most important thing is that I should feel comfortable in what I wear but I also try to look elegant since I am in the public eye.

We know the uniting power of sports. You have a duty of vice presidency in European Turkish Football Federation. The Federation is like a bridge between Europe and Turkey in terms of sports. Can you talk about this process a little?

We, many people from the world of business, politics and art, established a federation in Germany. There is a considerable amount of Turkish population in Europe and there are about 400 Turkish football teams. We, as the federation, wish to support these teams, bring these teams together, increase their number and reinforce them. Of course, we have connections with Turkish Football Federation as well. There will be talents which we want to introduce them to Turkish football. This is quite a new process but we will do magnificent works in the future. We will establish centers in various cities and countries, and conduct joint operations with the countries there. We want to shoulder a better mission in Europe as Turkish people and to represent Turkey very well.

We became acquainted with the young athlete Persian Arat Hossein due to his video on social media. You stated that you would give him a life-long support and hosted Arat in Istanbul. How did this meeting go?

Arat is just 5-year-old but I think he is one of the most talented football players on the earth. The fact that Arat came to Turkey from Iran both attracted the attention of world's teams and mine as well so I invited him to my record company. He came here with his family, we spent pleasing time and played football as much as we can. I also accompanied him as a former athlete who played football in the youth squad of a team in the 2nd league until the age of 18. Arat has a very bright future. Maybe, Arat is not aware of his own talent right now, football is just a game to him but, for me, Arat is a little kid who represents the world and challenges the world with his talent. I support everyone who believes in their talent, they can just knock upon my door.

You do not deny your support either from the athletes or musicians. Do the issues which you had been through before affect your support?

Absolutely, I searched for a record company for 10 years, it was not easy. There was not a single door which I did not knock in Unkapam. I thought I could provide opportunities to the young like me with the money I earned from my music if I could ever achieve something since I had very difficult times. And this happened so. You need to imagine, want something in life and work for them. Supporting people and seeing the success of people which I supported make me incredibly happy. It is a terrific emotion to witness the stages and excitements of young talents with which I made a duet. My door is always open to everyone, I will do anything I can. 2-3 people come to our record company everyday. Many people would not pay regard to these requests but I really listen the works submitted to me and express my opinions honestly. I think upon what we can do, make recommendations and direct them as such. We also have many talented young musicians. In the future, we will introduce them to the music sector one by one.

“You need to imagine, want something in life and work for them. Supporting people and seeing the success of people which I supported make me incredibly happy.”

New year is getting closer. Can you tell us about your dreams and projects for the new year.

New year is getting closer. Can you tell us about your dreams and projects for the new year. I have been working on my 13th solo album for a while. Album preparations are over now and I will release it as soon as possible without making my fans wait. It contains songs which no one knows along with few songs which were released digitally before. In 2020, I will be completing the my musical life's 25th year, as we call, the quarter-century. I want to celebrate this with my fans. This celebration can be through a nice album or few special concert organizations. I am also awaiting the new year impatiently, let's see what it will bring... I also wish happiness and health in the new year for the readers of We You They.

WORLD'S MOST STYLISH AND CHARISMATIC LEADER

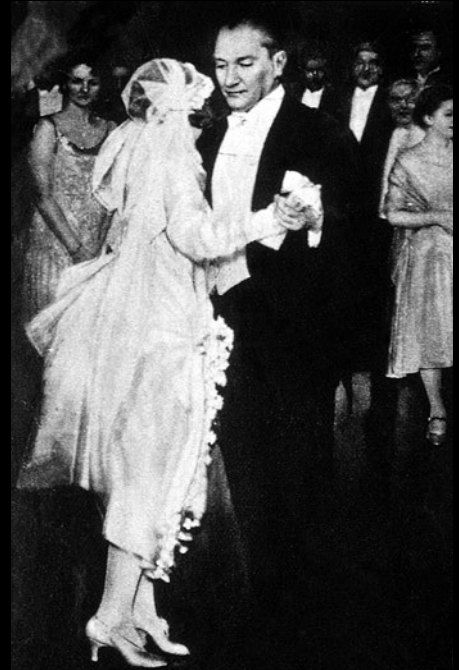

Mustafa Kemal Atatürk

The Great Leader Mustafa Kemal Atatürk, the founder of the Republic of Turkey, was a meticulous and careful leader regarding his timeless understanding of fashion and style. So to say that the Great Leader created the fashion of his time. We have compiled the things that are not known about the style of Atatürk in this issue corresponding with the 10 November Atatürk Remembrance Day. Here are the details of the dressing style of world's most stylish and charismatic leader...

"A civilized and international dress is worthy and appropriate for the Turkish nation. We will wear it."
Mustafa Kemal Atatürk

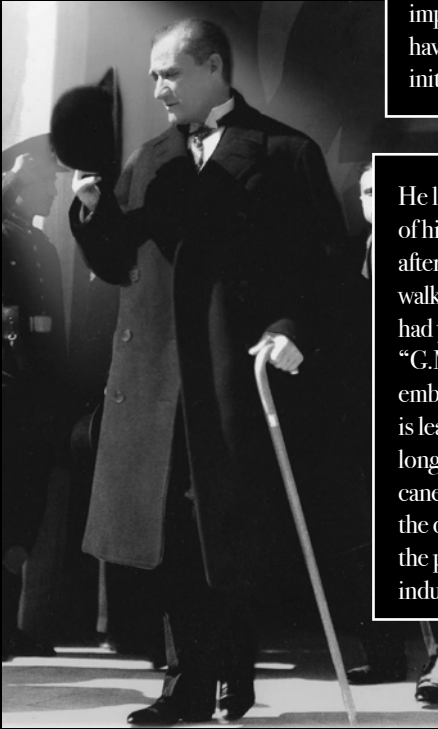

He closely followed fashion and art. Levon Kordoneiyan was a master tailor when he returned to İstanbul after studying fashion for 6 years in Paris, which was considered as the center of fashion, and he was the irreplaceable tailor of Atatürk. Atatürk never gave up on his tailor until his death and kept on wearing tuxedo, redingote, full dress suit and morning coat that he sew.

His fabric preference for his shirts were usually silk or linen. He preferred cream, bone color, beige and white as for the color of his shirts. He usually wore shirts with grandad collar and used attached collar. He attached his grandad collars to his shirt with collar buttons.

Tuxedo was indispensable for official invitations. He was always careful that the ironing of his clothes was smooth, that they did not sag or curl while walking.

Atatürk was fond of many accessories. The hat was his most important accessory, he would always wear it. He would have his tailor sew the emblem of "G.M.K" which are the initials of Gazi Mustafa Kemal.

He liked using walking canes. Two of his walking canes were examined after his death. The 97 cm wooden walking cane with snakeskin handle had yellow metal inlay letters "G.M.K.". Metal handled, filigree embroidered walking cane handle is leather sheathed and it is 90 cm long. It is written on this walking cane that "Industry is related to the destiny of a nation as well as the progress of a nation with the industry."

A cloak was first seen on his shoulders. He sometimes wore a black cloak and sometimes a blue one both at war and during his presidency period.

His gloves, tie, bow-tie, kerchief, pocket-handkerchief were always complete. His shoes were mostly in the same color as his clothes. He mostly wore patent leather shoes with laces.

He mostly drew the designs of his suits. His suits, which were almost all black, consisted of three parts; coat, trousers and vest. He would always have his pocket watch in his vest.

“WHITE WINTER” A MAGNIFICENT ATMOSPHERE

We imagine changes in our lives with the positive energy as the new year approaches. We mostly think doing these changes in our homes where we spend most of our time. It sometimes feels good to make little changes while we feel the need to make bigger changes from time to time. In this issue that is released in the last days of the year, we prepared fantastic offers for those of you that want to experience the excitement of the new year by making changes in their living space. Here are our elegant and peaceful decoration ideas with the color of the purity, white that will fit to your four season spirit...

We thought that this year you might like a comfortable look at any times, covered in snow rather than a design filled with red - green objects, gift boxes and plaids. Of course, choosing the right color at the beginning is crucial in order to ensure this difference. The colors that we use in the decoration should be compatible with each other, reflect the size of our room and help the lighting. It is possible for you to use the white color, which is the representative of elegance and purity, while decorating your home with any style and pattern.

SINCERITY OF WARM WHITE COLORS...

The tones that you use while creating a white appearance in your decoration are important. Like every other color, white has warm, neutral and cold tones. For example, if you want to create a more sincere environment in your living room you should use warm tones of white; whereas you should use cold and grayish white tones if you want to create gray and white combinations. In bigger rooms that you do not want to be full white, you can use beige and warm-toned colors. Therefore, your eyes won't be tired and your room doesn't look empty.

SPECIAL PLACES FOR PLEASANT MOMENTS..

Fireplaces, essential for winter decorations, come after choosing colors... You can create a living corner by putting white pelts in front of the fireplace, which you can place in your big room. If you don't like the idea of sitting on the ground while drinking your coffee and having sincere talks, you can create a special place for drinking coffee by using soft-toned wing chairs. Another thing that creates a warm feeling is plummy, plush and soft accessories... You can add a plummy white or light gray blanket to your living room group as a decorative or you can ornament your living environment with accessories like this. Also, adding soft small cushions to your living room group will be one of the wonderful winter decoration ideas that will increase the comfort.

TO THE LAND OF FAIRY-TALES WITH VANILLA SCENTED CANDLES...

We can't think of a better accessory than candles in order to support the warm and peaceful ambiance and to spread a mystical air to your living environments. You will feel yourself as if you're in a fairy-tale in your white room with the ambiance of vanilla-scented candles. You can finalize your decoration by placing candles that you choose from a variety of shapes and aromas on tables or around the television and bigger candles on the floor.

A PRETTY WINTER GARDEN...

You can turn your balcony or terrace into a pretty winter garden by covering it with pliable glass in order to complete the harmony of the inside with the outside. You can choose to cover the floor, armchairs, tables or a few cushions with white sheepskin or plummy furs. You can also use rustic accessories, candles in high amounts and lanterns to expand your balcony. You can include coffee table, chair, stool or functional sofas in accordance with the width of your space. You can make your balcony more comfortable by adding a thick rug to your decoration.

A PINE TREE LIKE A PEARL...

Lastly, if you want to have the theme of new year in your decoration, you can prefer to use a white pine tree or ornamented with white. It would be a great idea to decorate your tree with lights, ornaments or with white fur garlands, pearl ornaments and silver balls. You can also design a different object by adding silver and white ornaments to objects like garland and snowman. You can prepare a bouquet with silver and white ribbons and place it on your dinner table to have an aesthetic look. You can feature the spirit of the new year by hanging white lights to your front door and welcome your guests in a brilliant manner.

FROM FLU TO DEPRESSION... FISH FOR HEALTH!

Nutritionist
Birgöl Nizipoğlu

Fishing season started and fish are on the menu now. So, what benefits does fish with high nutritional values have for our body and health? What should we consume with fish? Is it right to consume fish by squeezing lemon onto it? Birgöl Nizipoğlu, İstinye University Hospital Liv Hospital Bahçeşehir Nutritionist gave answers to all of these questions for our dear readers. Here are fish that should be consumed in accordance with the season and good for flu to depression, cardiac diseases to exhaustion...

SHOULD BE CONSUMED TWO - THREE TIMES A WEEK

First of all, fish should be cooked with grill, steam or baking methods and be consumed two - three times a week. Using milk instead of cream and wholemeal flour instead of white flour while seasoning fish soup will make the food healthier with the vegetables and spices in the soup.

SALMON PREVENTS FLU AND COLD

There are countless benefits of salmon that can be consumed in almost each season. Nutritionist Birgül Niziplioğlu states that salmon fish protects the immune system with the selenium in it and thus prevents diseases such as flu and cold. Tuna fish soothes the body spiritually and mentally with the high Omega - 3 fatty acid and B vitamins in it. It also prevents depression since serotonin (happiness hormone) has a positive effect on metabolism. Blue fish functions in the energy metabolism due to having niacin in it. Consuming it in required amounts eliminates the fatigue and exhaustion problems and provides a better sleep experience.

ANCHOVY PROTECTS FROM CARDIOVASCULAR DISEASES

Anchovy is rich in vitamin A and D and it is preventive against cardiovascular diseases. Anchovy is also beneficial for brain health due to being rich in terms of iodine. However, anchovy should be cooked with steam rather than frying. Fish can be consumed in pregnancy as long as it is fresh and in the proper season. Some fish types may negatively affect the brain and nerve development of the baby during pregnancy due to having high amounts of mercury in them. Anchovy, bonito and mackerel are surface fish and don't live long enough, thus, they have less mercury in them. Therefore, it is suitable for pregnant women to prefer these fish.

YOU CAN DRINK AYRAN IF THE FISH IS FRESH

Acidic beverages are usually preferred with fish but these beverages decrease the beneficial effects of the fish. Soda with freshly squeezed lemon would be a better choice to drink with fish. You can also consume lemon by squeezing it unto the fish. Antioxidants and vitamin C in the lemon increases the absorption and usage of Omega - 3 fatty acid in the fish. Those that want to benefit from the calcium in the fish should not consume garden rocket with fish because high iron ratios in the garden rocket decreases the calcium absorption. Fish consumption may cause decrease in the blood sugar so consuming onions with it maintains the balance of the blood sugar and helps with the digestion. If you are sure about the freshness of the fish, you can drink ayran with it but if it is stale, histamine level in the protein structure of the fish increases and may cause toxic effect in the body.

Weather is getting colder and the winter has come. We prepared High Time recommendations for you that will warm you, be good for your soul and let you enjoy the winter. You can make new plans in your life with our titles including many activities such as exploring the beauties of the nature and our country, having fun hobbies and experiencing different tastes...

...WARMING WITH HAND WEAVING

Hand weaving is a therapy that warms our hearts in the winter season... The time spent at home extends as the weather gets colder. The scarves and berets that you can learn in the model you like with the wool ropes of the color you want, both help you to have a good time and relax and protect yourself from the cold. All you need to do is to buy a ball of string in the color you like a pair of knitting needles and start weaving. You can use your products or gift them to people that you love to make them happy.

...VISITING THE NEW YEAR MARKETS

New year excitement begins with the last months of the year. New year markets have already opened up their exhibits where you can buy special new year gifts to your beloved ones, try special tastes unique to winter that will make your day colorful... You can examine hand-made gifts while strolling between colorful and radiant exhibits and make your shopping more enjoyable by trying sweet hand-made snacks and hot beverages.

...TRYING RECIPES THAT WILL WARM YOU

How about trying delicious coffee recipes that will warm you in these days when the weather gets colder? If you are one of those people that prefer taking a cup of coffee and sitting in a cozy corner in your home in cold weathers, then you can enjoy the winter with practical homemade coffee recipes. You should have milk, honey and cacao in your kitchen that you will use almost in any delicious recipe. You can prefer fragrant cinnamon to dress your coffee or soft sweets that will melt with the heat of the coffee in the homemade recipes that you have tried.

...CARING FOR YOUR SKIN

Cold and dry weathers affect our skin negatively by drying it. You can provide the moisture needed for your skin in the winter by making a few simple skin cares at home and have a more lively and healthy appearance. If you prefer homemade recipes, then you must find the one that is suitable for your skin. You can make your caring more enjoyable by inviting other members of your family or your beloved ones.

...VISITING ANITKABİR

You can visit Anıtkabir where the mausoleum of the founder of Republic of Turkey, Great Leader Mustafa Kemal Atatürk is located on his 81th death anniversary. You can watch the memorial events in honor of his 81th death anniversary. We advise you to check the visiting hours of Anıtkabir before making plans on this important day since the visiting hours can differ.

CITY OF CIVILIZATIONS

Kayseri

The city that was established at the mountain slopes of Mount Erciyes and have hosted many civilizations throughout centuries; is located at the Middle Kızılırmak Region. Kayseri is one of the fastest growing and developing cities of the region with its historical and cultural structure that attract many visitors. It is a quite special city that has hosted Roman, Byzantine, Seljuk and Ottoman Empire respectively. In this issue, we have compiled the places for you to visit in Kayseri, which is among our cities with cultural heritage, with its natural beauties, mosques and museums.

Enjoy the reading.

MOUNT ERCIYES

Mount Erciyes, one of the most beautiful and glorious mountains of Turkey, is a passive volcano that is around one million years old. The Mountain, being the symbol of the city and the region, is the highest mountain in the Central Anatolia with its 3 thousand 917 meters' height.

Erciyes is like the heart of Kayseri with its summit that pierces the clouds, the snow that it always has in its highest parts and its glory that fascinates people... Mount Erciyes, which has been the favorite place of ski enthusiasts for many years, has turned into a prominent winter sports and tourism center of Turkey and it is among the few other centers in the world. There are 34 different ski tracks with a total length of 102 km which are connected with each other at Erciyes, known as the Alps of Turkey. It offers an unforgettable skiing experience for ski enthusiasts with tracks of different difficulties (black - red - blue). Even though it does not snow, Erciyes has open ski tracks throughout the season thanks to the artificial snowing system and it has the best parachute ski tracks in the world with its breezy environment. The ease of transportation makes Erciyes a very attractive place for both domestic and foreign tourists.

SULTAN SAZLIĞI NATIONAL PARK

Sultan Sazlığı is a rare wetland area that accompanies both a fresh water and salt water ecosystem at the same time. It was found out that there were 428 plant species and 48 of which were endemic in the flora studies carried out between the years of 2002 - 2004 in Sultan Sazlığı National Park, which has a national and international importance. According to the bird census studies carried out up to this time, there are maximum 301 bird species in Sultan Sazlığı. Number and species of birds in Sultan Sazlığı depend heavily on the changes of water level in the ecosystem of wetland area and months. You can observe the wild life, participate rock climbing and capture unique frames in this Park.

ATATÜRK HOUSE

Mustafa Kemal stayed in this mansion, which was built by İmamzade Reşit Ağa in the 19th century, for two nights during his Kayseri visit as the Head of Delegation. The exterior of the mansion is made of cut stones while the main material used in the construction was wood. The roof ends decorated with wood motifs and the lower eaves of the bay window are among the striking details of the structure. The mansion was expropriated in 1978 by the Ministry of Culture and opened as the Atatürk House in 1983, while the second floor of the house was turned into Atatürk Museum in 10 December 1998. Photographs of Atatürk taken in the city and the declaration published in Kayseri are among the 41 items on the exhibition in the part of the Atatürk House which was turned into a museum.

KAPUZBAŞI WATERFALL

Kapuzbaşı Waterfall, which is one of the falls located in the boundaries of Kapuzbaşı village of Kayseri, has the distinction of being the highest waterfall in Turkey and the second highest one in the world. The most important feature of Kapuzbaşı Waterfalls is that it falls from the source. Waterfall is located in a deep valley inside the Aladağlar. Aladağlar National Park is at the junction of province boundaries of Kayseri, Niğde and Adana. Kapuzbaşı Waterfalls is bigger than Niagara in USA (55 m), Imatra in Finland (25 m), Tortum in Erzurum (50 m), Düden (25 m) and Manavgat (5 m) in Antalya in terms of altitude flow. The altitude of the Waterfalls is 700 meters.

KAYSERİ CASTLE

Kayseri Castle, which is located in Cumhuriyet Square, is a heritage of the Roman Empire. There are two castles in the city center as the inner castle and the outer castle, which is formed by the walls surrounding the inner castle. Although it has been attacked many times and its outer walls are almost completely destroyed, it is still the best preserved city castle in our country. Castle, which was built to prevent invades, is the most important structure of the city that radiates a different atmosphere as well as shedding light onto thousands of years old history. According to a few documents that can be shown as proof, Kayseri walls were first built in the middle of the III. century, it was narrowed and repaired in the middle of the VI. century. There are not certain records that show which part of the walls belong to Roman or Byzantine Empires.

KURŞUNLU MOSQUE

This mosque, which was built by Sinan the Architect in his hometown of Kayseri in 1573 and whose real name was Hacı Ahmet Paşa Mosque, is called “Kurşunlu Mosque” due to its lead coated central dome. The Mosque holds the title of being the only work of Sinan the Architect, whom has built 12 works, reaching the modern day in Kayseri. The prominent features of the Mosque are its inner decorations, pulpit and domed fountain in the garden that is built upon eight pillars. Kurşunlu Mosque, being a classic Ottoman period architecture, is one of the most beautiful mosques of Kayseri with its embroidery and decorations. The narthex of the Mosque, which was built with smooth cut stone, is double arched as in other mosques of Sinan the Architect; Mihrimah in İstanbul Üsküdar, Atık Valide and Eminönü Rüstem Paşa.

WHAT TO EAT IN KAYSERİ?

Food of Kayseri that connects the Anatolia together is a 5 thousand years old heritage. The city is generally popular for its butter, pastrami and tomato paste but mantı is inseparable from the city. The fact that merchants of Kayseri boasted of Kayseri mantı in their domestic or international travels and even bring gifts including it contributed to the promotion of mantı at the international level. Even though there are 30 types of mantı in Kayseri, the most delicious one is Kayseri tray mantı. This meal that is appealing both in appearance and taste, is cooked differently than the generally known mantı. In this cooking style, mantı is not sealed and it is fried on a tray instead of cooking in a pot.

DÖNER TOMB

According to a rumor, the structure was named as Döner Kumbet because it was claimed to have revolved and it was built in 1276 for Şah Cihan Hatun, the daughter of Anatolian Seljuk Sultan I. Alaeddin Keykubad. Therefore, it is also known as Şah Cihan Hatun Kumbet The tomb, which is made of yellowish cut stone, rests on a black base and has a cylindrical body. The twelve sides of the tomb are ornamented with plantal and geometrical patterns which were etched. There are two lion etchings with human heads, some parts broken, on the door. Each side of the twelve lancet arches are decorated with different ornaments. The double-headed eagle emblem between two winged panther figures is seen on the door facade of the tomb, which stands out with the abundance of figured plastic ornaments and resembles a monumental tent.

NASAL OBSTRUCTION CAN CAUSE SERIOUS HEALTH PROBLEMS

There is no doubt that we all want to be healthy. And of course, breathing properly. The proper and healthy way of breathing goes through a fully functional nose. Nose is the first and foremost step of our respiratory system even though one out of two people have a temporary or permanent nasal problem that obstructs the flow of air. Betül Şahin Otolaryngologist of Acibadem Bakırköy Hospital says that people with nasal obstruction usually choose temporary solutions rather than permanent ones and states that chronic nasal obstruction may trigger serious diseases in the later period.

It Fundamentally Affects the Quality of Life

The most critical requirement for oxygen breathing living beings is to be able to sufficiently aspirate. Lack of oxygen can cause unexpected problems in our mental and physical health. Any situation that obstructs our nose, the gateway of our respiratory system, can drastically affect our life quality. It causes physical health problems such as snoring, sleep apnea, chronic cardiovascular diseases, feeling tired all the time due to lack of oxygen and having to make more effort than needed for any task. Aside from physical complaints, problems concerning mental health such as unhappiness and depression may appear due to unhealthy breathing.

The Four Most Common Factors

Specialist Betül Şahin emphasizes that many unsolved conditions from concha to chronic sinusitis may completely dysfunction the nose, after giving information about four most common factors of nasal obstruction. These four factors are:

- Nasal septum deviation (Developmental or genetic)
- Concha problems (A condition called concha hypertrophy or polyp in which the concha obstructs the nose)
- Chronic sinusitis (Narrowing of the nasal passage due to constant nasal flow caused by chronic sinusitis problems)
- Allergic rhinitis (Chronic growing of concha due to allergy)

Chronic Nasal Obstruction Can Trigger the Risk of Death

Şahin, after emphasizing that people avoid determining this problem or seek temporary solutions, draws the attention to important diseases that can be caused by chronic nasal obstruction by stating that “Nasal obstruction is a problem that people get used to in time. Therefore, these people can’t get used to the idea of undergoing a surgery and keep postponing these operations. However, chronic nasal obstruction can trigger many serious diseases such as chronic cardiovascular diseases, death risk during sleep apnea, depression, concentration problems and dementia. Because people waste their times by ignoring respiratory problems and searching for other factors, these problems usually worsen.”

Attention to Snoring and Sleep Apnea!

When people realize that they start making more effort than they used to for daily tasks, they should apply to an otolaryngologist. However, if people experience more snoring and sleep apnea, they must see a specialist.

“Chronic nasal blockage may trigger the cardiac diseases and death risk.”

What are the Symptoms?

There are symptoms other than respiratory problems and making more effort in people that suffer from nasal obstruction.

- Especially chronic headaches starting from the face and spreading to whole head area.
 - Sinusitis pains accompany other symptoms as the nasal passage does not work, triggering sinusitis infection.
 - Problems in smelling and tasting related to it.
 - Pharyngitis and tonsillitis occurrence due to breathing through the mouth.
 - Ear infections and loss of hearing in later periods.
 - Having asthma accompanying allergic based nasal obstructions.
- People having one or more of these conditions must apply to a specialist and talk about these symptoms.

DECAYED TEETH ARE NO MORE

There has been a new development regarding the problem of tooth enamel loss that scientists have been getting no results of despite long-term studies. A new method developed by Chinese scientists have succeeded preventing the tooth enamel loss which has an important role in tooth decay. Tooth enamel is only present during tooth development and does not have the ability to restore itself after permanent teeth are formed. Scientists have tried to artificially mineralize the enamel before and failed. However, Chinese scientists have used a material during the study that copies the natural mineralization process of the protective layer of the human tooth. Scientists have developed a liquid solution that can effectively restore the outer layer of the tooth enamel. Although this solution is hundreds of times thinner than the layer of the tooth enamel, it is said to be improved.

HOW DREAMS ARE FORGOTTEN HAS BEEN EXPLAINED

In the research carried out by the scientists of Nagoya University of Japan and National Institute of Neurological Disorders and Stroke (NINDS) of USA, it has been found out that a group of cells in the brain prevents the storage of the dreams.

Scientists have carried out several experiments on the storage of the dreams. Prof. Dr. Thomas S. Kilduff, one of the scientists that examined the hypothalamus part of the brain has stated that dreams appear in the in the deep sleep stage in which MCH cells are active. Kilduff has stated that MCH cells create the dreams while they also prevent their storage.

RECENTLY DISCOVERED EEL CAN PRODUCE 850 VOLT ELECTRICITY

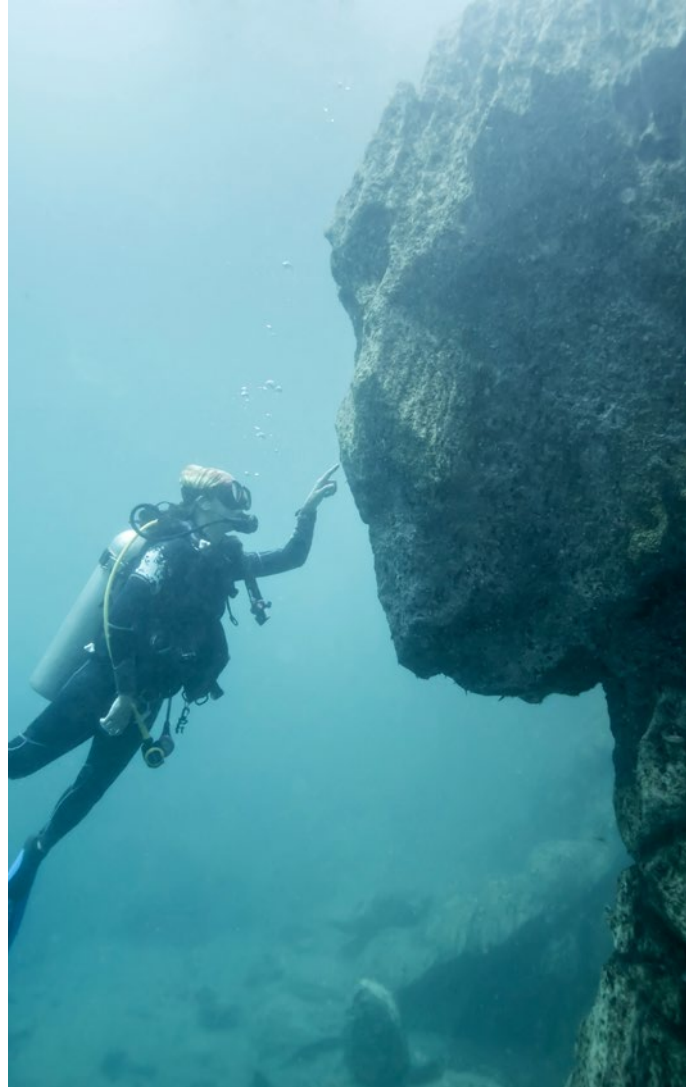

Electric eels, an inspiration for the Alessandro Volta, the inventor of the battery, have been thought to have only one species. However, two electric eel species have been discovered in the Amazon basin and one of them can produce 860 volt electricity. A team with the leadership of the Washington Smithsonian National Museum of Natural History Zoologist C. David de Santana has stated that analysis 107 DNA samples collected from the remote corners of the South America indicates the existence of two electric eel species. The results of the study published in the science journal Nature Communications have indicated that the eel species named "E voltai" is the only living creature with the capacity of producing the most electricity. The highest voltage of the electric eels has been recorded as 650 volts up to now. However, E voltai can produce 860 volt electric shock.

THE WORLD'S TALLEST TREES HAVE BEEN DISCOVERED

A team consisting researchers from Brazil, Swansea, Oxford Universities with the leadership of Eric Gorgens and Diego Armando da Silva has discovered the tallest tree that has ever been found in the rain forests. The discovered tree is 30 meters taller than the previous record holder tree with its 88 meters tallness. Researchers state that this tree is not alone and these huge trees are found in high numbers in the Guiana Shield region of North - Eastern Amazon, which accounts for about 9% of the remaining tropical forests of the earth. The team has continued measurements and exploration and found 15 giant trees that are taller than 70 meters, some of which going up to 80 meters tall. However, the surprising thing is that all tropical trees in this area belong to the same species.
